A photograph showing a yellow spirit level, a compass, and a yellow hard hat resting on top of architectural blueprints.

A photograph showing a tall, rectangular concrete pier for a bridge under construction. The pier has a flared top section. Two yellow lattice-boom cranes are positioned on the pier, one on each side, extending upwards and outwards. A long, blue-painted steel girder or formwork is being lowered by the cranes, angled upwards towards the top of the pier. The background is a clear blue sky with a few wispy clouds.
